Ankara's Reply To Allied Warning About Asylum To War Criminals

ANKARA, Aug. 4.

It is understood that the Turkish note replying to the Allied note about giving asylum to war criminals has been drawn up, says Reuter's Special Correspondent.

The indications are that the note does not accept the Allied proposition. The view is expressed in Turkish circles that the note is contrary to International Laws of Asylum and there is a feeling that it is derogatory to Turkish Sovereignty.

The Turkish Foreign Minister, M. Numan Menemencioglu left for Istanbul this evening, it is believed, with the object of submitting the Turkish reply for the approval of President Incunu who is on a holiday nearby.

JOINT REPLY TO ALLIED NOTE

ISTANBUL, Aug. 4.—Reuter's Special Correspondent cables: The Foreign Minister to-day conferred with the Swiss, Spanish and Portuguese Ministers in Istanbul and immediately after it is believed discussed with neutral envoys the possibility of a joint reply to the Allied note regarding War criminals. The fact that he saw the Italian Charge d'Affaires has given rise to speculation of the possibility that an idea has been put forward of Mussolini being exiled in Turkey.

The talks took place at Moda-club, the Foreign Minister's summer home.—Reuter.

SWISS KEEP STRICT NEUTRALITY

LONDON, Aug 4.—Reuter's diplomatic correspondent writes:—It is stated authoritatively in London today with regard to the possibility of the Germans asking for the use of Swiss railways for passage of their troops, that the British Government have made informal communications to the Swiss Government on a number of occasions expressing their anxiety in regard to the likelihood of German pressure on Switzerland designed to cause her to depart from the strict obligation of neutrality. On all these occasions the Swiss Government have given satisfactory replies regarding their determination to observe their neutrality obligations most strictly. This does not mean that the Germans have not put pressure on Switzerland to secure this "facility", but the Swiss attitude throughout has been most satisfactory.

There is no evidence of any passage of German troops, armed or unarmed through Switzerland.—Reuter.

LUCKNOW, Aug. 4

The police submitted a charge sheet under Section 302 of the Indian Penal Code read with Section 201 to-day against Mr. B. B. Singh, I.C.S., former Secretary, Local Self-Government, before the Deputy Magistrate, Lucknow. The police also submitted charge sheets against Thakur Bhabar Singh, Gurumukhsingh, Ananta and Fairee, who were arrested in connection with the offence. It is learnt, that the police have submitted a list of 73 prosecution witnesses.—U. P.

REDS CAPTURE 840 LOCALITIES

Triple Soviet Drive On Orel

MOSCOW, Aug. 4

The Moscow radio said to-day that since the beginning of their present offensive the Red Army had recaptured 840 towns and villages in the Orel sector. Most of the places had been occupied since the autumn of 1941.

REDS TAKE SYCH

An earlier message stated:

It is officially announced that the German offensive in the Donetz basin has stopped owing to heavy casualties.

The Russians have captured Sych, which is the last station before Orel on the Kursk railway.

TRIPLE DRIVE ON OREL

From Reuter's special correspondent: The Germans are in full and precipitate retreat towards Orel. The Russians are moving up big guns for the bombardment of Orel city.

Gen. Konstaantin Rokossovsky's three main armies are plunging forward on the city from the north, from the east and from south. Their position early to-day was: East—six and half miles from Orel at Domnino, the last station on the railway running into the city from the east. South—Stish, five miles from Orel and the near east point the Russians have reached. North—The Red Army in full pursuit down the Bolkhov road to north-west of Orel and south-east of the Nugr river.

The Red Army command is giving the Germans no chance to build a new defence position. A frontline dispatch to 'The Pravda' to-day states that roads and forests are littered with abandoned German material, including guns and tanks—often in good condition. Among the abandoned tanks are several practically undamaged 'Tigers'.

NAZIS FORCED OFF MAIN ROADS

The Germans are abandoning the main roads which are being heavily bombed by the Soviet Air Force and trying to withdraw by secondary and forest paths leaving the rearguards to fight delaying actions. But Soviet tanks are forging ahead and frequently getting into the rear of the retreating Germans.

North of Orel the Red Army have captured a new German stronghold in addition to those reported officially overnight, stated the 'Red Star' to-day.

Allies Capture Caronia

Anglo-American Navy Busy Tackling Axis Targets In Sicily

Allied Headquarters in North Africa: Wednesday's communique states: "Very satisfactory progress has been made, especially in the left sector of the Eighth Army front, where the enemy is fighting desperately south of Catania. Patrol activity has increased while further inland our troops have pushed forward, in some cases several miles.

"The capture of Agira and Catenanuova has strengthened our position in the centre. Bitter fighting has taken place in this sector and the enemy had had heavy casualties inflicted on him. In the northern sector advances up to six miles in some cases have been made in spite of the rugged and difficult country.

"Caronia, on the north coast road, has been taken."

Wednesday's Air Communique states: "Heavy attacks were carried out yesterday by medium and light bombers against Adrano and gun positions and the road in the Adrano area. Many enemy vehicles were destroyed and damaged. Enemy shipping off the Sicilian coast was attacked and hits were scored on a merchant vessel.

ALLIED NAVY BOMBARDS AXIS POSITIONS

To-day's Naval Communique announces: "Reports just received indicate considerable naval activity in Sicilian waters. On the north coast of Sicily west of Cape Orlando cruisers and destroyers of United States Navy have continued to bomb the coast road and enemy positions on the left flank of the Seventh Army. During the night of July 31/August 1, a small detachment of British light coastal craft had a sharp engagement with E-Boats off Cape Armi on the toe of Italy at the south end of the Straits of Messina. One E-Boat was damaged and all her guns put out of action. On the same night British destroyers bombarded the coast road near Taormina on the east coast of Sicily. E-Boats were also engaged and driven off. The destroyers then proceeded to bombard the coast road near Cape Molini, about 17 miles to southward of Taormina."

Rome: To-day's Italian Communique says: The four days' battle raging in Sicily has developed particularly bitterly between Regalbuto and Centuripe.

Allied Headquarters in North Africa: It is officially disclosed today that Malta was Gen. Eisenhower's operational Headquarters for the attack on Sicily. Gen. Eisenhowever and staff went to Malta four days before the scheduled beginning of the offensive. Gen. Eisenhower was the guest of Lord Gort, Governor of Malta.—Reuter.

ITALIAN RLY. INSTALLATIONS BOMBED

CAIRO Aug. 4.—A Middle East Air communique announces that British 'Halifax' and 'Liberator' Heavy bombers attacked railway installations at Reggio di Calabria during the night of August 2/3, starting several large fires. 'Beaufighters' shot down one Italian machine off Crete. All British aircraft returned safely.—Reuter.

LONDON, Aug. 4.

The House of Savoy is being gradually erased out of Italian propaganda reports, observes Reuter's radio listening station. Earlier broadcasts after the fall of Mussolini both to home and abroad were insistent and vocal about the King's popularity which "provides the rallying point for the Italian people". Later, however, the emphasis definitely shifted on to the Government, and during the last few days, the House of Savoy was barely mentioned. The main idea of the Italian home propaganda has been to play for time. The Italian people are told that everything will be quite alright if only they will be quiet and give the Government time to turn round. The same note is struck in broadcasts to abroad but here the emphasis is the reverse. Stress is laid not so much on the benefits to come as on the present united spirit of Italy. The propaganda generally has stiffened in tone and each day has become progressively more warlike.—Reuter.

STOP PRESS

ROLE OF INDIANS IN SICILY CAMPAIGN

LONDON, Aug. 4

The part played by Indian troops during the opening stages of the campaign in Sicily is described by the British Broadcasting Corporation special correspondent.

When British troops of the Eighth Army landed in Sicily on the morning of July 10, they were quickly followed by Indian troops, who had come over to do a very special task, he says. Their job was to assist in bringing vital stores and transport quickly from the landing craft to the shore. Men of famous British Infantry Regiments worked side by side with Indians on the beaches. By the time they were landed to begin their work the worst of the opposition had already been swept from the coast lines and the hills behind it. But snipers were still active and the sharp crack of rifle fire was heard repeatedly as they set about their task. They worked ceaselessly, Indian and British infantrymen together, to unload the shallow flat-bottomed landing-craft. So well did these stalwart men, Punjabi, Mussalman, Sikh, Dogra and Pathan, get on with their work that they unloaded the craft faster than the mother ships could send them in. Conversation with the Sicilians is difficult but the Indians have proved very adaptable in this respect.

HITLER'S HEALTH CAUSES ANXIETY

'Discussion Of Successor Has Already Begun'

STOCKHOLM, Aug. 4.

From Reuter's special correspondent Hitler's health is giving cause for anxiety according to unconfirmed reports quoted by the Berne correspondent of the Swedish "Allehanda" to-day.

The correspondent said: "Himmler asked Hitler's physician to give a true report which was "very bad". The Fuehrer often appears apathetic and depressed.

In Germany discussions about the eventual successor have already begun."—Reuter.

MIDDLE EAST WATCHES

Gen. Wilson On German Dispositions In Baikans

CAIRO, August 4.

The Commander-in-Chief in the Middle East Gen. Sir Henry Maitland Wilson declared to-day: "The future depends on whether the collapse of Italy will cause Germany to alter her dispositions in the Balkans. From the military point of view our task in the Middle East is to watch events closely and take advantage of any opening that may occur."

TUNIS ADMINISTRATION

WESTMINSTER:—Mr. Eden declared in a written answer in the Commons today that the relations between the Beylical Government in Tunis and the French authorities continued to be governed by the existing treaties and so far as he was aware the war had not resulted in any material changes in the system of administration. Mr. Eden added that the newly appointed Bey was still in office.

EXCHANGE OF WAR PRISONERS

Mr. Eden stated in the Commons today that the negotiations for the exchange of badly wounded prisoners with Germany had been resumed after a long interruption.

He added that the suggestion from the International Red Cross that prisoners who had been in captivity a long time should be interned in neutral countries was being considered.

"Unconditional Surrender Might Not Be Dishonourable"

LONDON, Aug. 4

The British Foreign Secretary Mr Anthony Eden told the Commons today: "I can understand the circumstances in which unconditional surrender might not be dishonourable to those who made it." He reiterated that no peace terms had been offered by the Italians and the Allies continued to demand unconditional surrender.

He was replying to an inquiry as to what were the honourable conditions of peace offered to the Italians by the United Nations in General Eisenhower's recent broadcast and whether unconditional surrender could be honourable.—Reuter.

DEFINITE BREACH OF CAPETOWN AGREEMENT

'Elders' Condemn 'Pegging' Legislation & Plead For Economic Sanctions Against Union Govt.

NEW DELHI, August 4.

The Council of State discussed the South African "Pegging" legislation today.

Mr. G. S. Bozman, Secretary, Indian Overseas Department, initiating discussion gave a short resume of the events proceeding final enactment of the 'Pegging' Act. He also gave details of the various representations the Government of India had made to the United Government on the subject. The Government, he said, considered the legislation as repugnant, unnecessary and inopportune. He read short extracts from some of the speeches made on the Bill in South African Parliament to indicate that at least some of the members of the Union Parliament also regarded the Bill as inopportune and repugnant. Government had taken no decision and would not do so until all the discussions they had planned were completed.

CHARGE AGAINST UNION GOVT.

Mr. P. N Sapru, who spoke with considerable feeling charged the South African Government with definite breach of the Cape Town Agreement. He claimed that the living space in South Africa was very much less for Indians as compared to Europeans.

Mr. Sapru was totally opposed to statutory segregation and wanted economic sanctions to be applied immediately against South Africa.

Mr. Dalal said that when negotiations failed, retaliation was the only remedy left.

Sir A. P. Patro held that the economic sanctions would hurt Indian settlers in South Africa more than the Europeans in that country. He favoured the path of negotiations.

Mr. Parker also claimed that if Indians and South Africans could get round a table, a solution to the present difficulties could be reached.

"A DEAD LETTER"

Pandit Kunzru wanted the Council to judge the issue against the background of India's war effort, very eloquent testimony of which was paid by the Viceroy on Monday last. Indian soldiers, he said were responsible for saving Africa and yet the attitude of South African Government had remained unaltered. Pandit Kunzru said that the Cape Town Agreement had remained a dead letter and new devices were being discovered to drive Indians out of Africa.

Mr. Mantha was opposed to withdrawal of High Commissioner and regretted that the Government had not consulted the Standing Emigration Committee on the subject.

Mr. Padshah supported economic sanctions on behalf of the Muslim League Party. He would even have military sanctions if possible. He wanted the withdrawal of Indian army from Africa.

HOW TO RETALIATE

Raja Charanjit Singh said: "We must not take the insult lying down. The only question is how should we retaliate, because no protest, however emphatic, will have any effect unless it has got sanctions behind it."

Rai Bahadur Lala Ram Saran Das said that he felt the British Government had not helped India to the extent, indeed to any extent, they ought to have done. Knowing what India was doing in the war, he could not help remarking that the present British Government was ungrateful.

Mr Kaliker also asked what H.M.G. had done to prevent the passage of the "Pegging" Bill and to see that Indians were not maltreated.

BOZMAN ON RESULT OF DEBATE

Winding up the discussion, Mr. Bozman, Overseas Secretary, said the result of the debate was highly satisfactory and Government felt that purpose they had in mind, in initiating this debate, had been well-served by the discussion. As regards H.M.G.'s attitude, he said, when the Secretary of State for India had given a reply in Parliament, it would be rather difficult for a Secretary of the Government of India to give a reply to the same question and he would therefore not amplify that reply.

Mr. Bozman did not like to express his or the Government of India's opinion on these suggestions at that stage, as he wished to avoid all appearance of supporting the Union Government.

The Council adjourned till tomorrow.—A. P.

No Mention Of Gandhiji!

This Omission Destroys Value Of Viceroy's Speech, Says "M. G."

MANCHESTER, Aug. 4.

(Following is an amplification of the "Manchester Guardian" editorial of Lord Linlithgow's farewell address). "Lord Linlithgow paid a just tribute to the people of India for their war service, their endurance and courage, both at home and in the field", says the editorial. "Happy the country which can command such Allies! It should encourage us to believe that, having secured so much confidence, we can still by friendly effort secure that also which is denied to us by a part of the Indian people.

As a political performance, the Viceroy's address was remarkable. If the cabled summary is an adequate report, the Viceroy has contrived to "review his term of office" without so much as mentioning that Mr. Gandhi and the Congress chiefs are in prison, that they are forbidden to receive visits from leaders outside, that Mr. Gandhi himself is forbidden to write letters to these leaders. But this omission destroys the value of much of the speech. The general burden is of course that India's leaders and not the Government must find a way out." The newspaper refers to Lord Linlithgow's comment that if the Government's proposals are not acceptable as a whole there is "nothing" to stop India's leaders from devising an alternative.

OUGHT TO HAVE BEEN MENTIONED

"Nothing of course except that the leaders of the Congress, the largest party in the country are kept in prison that a former Congressman Mr. Rajagopalachari is not allowed to visit Mr. Gandhi, that Mr. Gandhi is kept apart from the other leaders, and that he is not allowed to send a letter even to Mr. Jinnah, the Moslem leader. All this may or may not be right and proper but it seems somehow as though it ought just to have been mentioned. Mr. Amery on July 29 treated the question in the Commons almost as strangely as the Viceroy." The newspaper recalls Mr. Amery's comment when questioned in the House of Commons by Labourite Mr. Sorensen that the Government of India has decided that Mr. Gandhi should not be accorded any opportunity of expressing or conveying his views to the public and that it was "not desired" that the public should form any opinion on Mr. Gandhi's views about the present situation.—Reuter.

Proportion Of Indian To British Officers

NEW DELHI, August 3.

A number of questions relating to the Indian Army were answered by the Commander-in-Chief, General Auchinleck, in the Council of State this morning. Replying to Pandit Kunzru, His Excellency disclosed that the figure of recruitment since the outbreak of the war was in neighbourhood of 2,000,000, and taking into account all officers serving in the Indian Army, whether Regular Service Officers or Emergency Commissioned Officers, or British Service Officers, the proportion on July 15, 1943 was one Indian to 3.7 British. His Excellency also disclosed that 97 units were at present commanded by Indian officers. These included one cavalry regiment, five infantry battalions five R.I.A.S.C. Units, two ordnance depots, 37 field medical units, 46 garrison medical units and one remount unit.

HOME SECRETARY FACES FUSILLADE OF QUESTIONS ON BAN ON LOUIS FISCHER'S ARTICLES IN COUNCIL OF STATE

NEW DELHI, Aug. 4.

The ban on Louis Fischer's writings was referred to by Pandit Hirdaynath Kunzru in a question in the Council of State this morning.

The Home Secretary, Mr. E. Conran-Smith in reply stated that the reason was the prejudicial and inaccurate nature of his writings and speeches about India which contained matter calculated to cause disaffection against Government and to prejudice relations between United Nations.

Pandit Kunzru: Was there anything in Mr. Fischer's speech after the publication of which in India the pre-censorship order was passed, which showed that he encouraged the people to rise against the Government or not to give the utmost help during the war?

"PRO-REBEL" PROPAGANDA

Home Secretary: My answer to that would be that his writings included propaganda in favour of rebels or calculated to encourage or assist the operations of an unlawful association and that they falsely represented America as antagonistic to Great Britain and as supporting or in sympathy with persons hostile to the war effort of India.

Mr. Sapru: How do Government propose to ensure that Mr. Fischer's writings do not reach the American, the Russian, and the Chinese people, and the other peoples of the United Nations.

Chair: That is a pure speculation. Nobody can tell what is going to happen in the future

Mr. Sapru: I am asking a question: How do they propose to ensure that his writings do not reach the peoples of the United Nations, such as American, the Chinese, the Russians, and others. He is trying to prejudice the relations between the United Nations. That is a legitimate question.

Home Secretary: That matter is so obviously not one for the Government of India that I feel it is hardly necessary to answer that question.

Mr. Sapru: Is it a fact that the main reason for banning Mr. Louis Fischer's articles in this country is that it has revealed the mind of the Viceregal Lodge?

The Home Secretary: No Sir.

Mr. Sapru: Is it a fact that there is nothing in Mr. Louis Fischer's articles to encourage resistance to the war effort but there is a good deal of criticism of the policy of His Majesty's Government and the Government of India?

The Home Secretary: The Hon. Member is merely controverting what I said in answer to a previous supplementary question.

Pandit Kunzru: What are the words in the speech published in India which encourage a movement like that which was initiated in August, 1942?

The Home Secretary: The trend of the articles was as I have described. The Hon. Member cannot expect me to answer to a question to quote from memory the passages in articles. He can himself refer to the published articles that have appeared in India.

Pandit Kunzru: The Hon. Member made a very definite statement regarding the reasons which impelled the Government of India to issue the order mentioned in the question. Why should it not be possible to point out any passage to me which can bear the interpretation put upon the speech as a whole by the Hon. Member?

The Home Secretary: I am not prepared to argue with the Hon. Member. The whole trend was of the nature I have indicated. He cannot expect me, in answer to a question to state the actual passages.

CHAIR TO RESCUE

Chair: May I suggest to the Government Member that if he does not wish to say anything, it is best for him to remain silent instead of answering the question, because the more he answers the question, in that case, he will get other questions and there will be an indefinite number of questions. If he does not want to reply the best thing is for him to remain silent.

Mr. Sapru: What is there in Mr. Louis Fischer's articles what has not been said by some British publicists?

No answer.

Mr. Srinarain Mahtha: has the Indian Representative in America done anything to counter-act the inaccuracies in the writings of Mr. Louis Fischer which the Honourable Member may have in mind?

The Home Secretary: I think the question should be addressed to another Honourable Member and not to me.

Sir Mohammed Usman replying to Pandit Kunzru's another question said that in view of the great interest in the war effort of India taken both in Great Britain and in the United States of America, Government are considering, in consultation with the India Office and the Agent-General for India in Washington, the question of inviting a few non-official gentlemen to undertake a tour abroad to speak on the war effort.

Indian Prisoners Of War

Mr. Ogilvie told Raja Yuvraj Dutta Singh that there were 12177 Indian prisoners of war in German and Italian hands on May 31, 1943.

Mr. Ogilvie informed the same member that the Government of India would bear the cost already incurred on Kazaks. It is not expected that further expenditure would be incurred, except for certain recoverable loans. He added that 568 Kazaks had settled down in Bhopal State.

Replying to another question by Raja Yuvraj Dutta Singh, Sir Jogindra Singh said that the permanent Indian and British officers in the I.M.S. were 177 Indians and 383 British. The numbers at present serving on the Civil side were Indian 19 and British 63.—A. P.

Assembly Session Extended

NEW DELHI, Aug. 4.

The session of the Central Assembly, which was to have terminated on Tuesday, August 10, has been extended to Thursday next week, on account of the slow progress made with the current agenda.

The House will now go into secret session on Wednesday next, instead of tomorrow, and non-official resolutions, which were to be taken up on Friday, will be considered on Thursday next week.

The Leader of the House, Sir Sultan Ahmed, making the above announcement this morning, said the progress made with the current agenda was "disappointingly slow" and if the present arrangements were adhered to, little, if any time would be available on Monday and Tuesday next week for the food debate.

He appealed to members to speed up progress.—A. P.

From Reuter's Special Correspondent at Allied Headquarters South-west Pacific: It is believed the Japanese at Munda, New Georgia, are squeezed into an area of not more than four square miles. A report of "stiffening resistance", however, indicates that heavy and bloody fighting can be expected before Munda's defences are finally overcome.

If You Go Away

If you or anybody in your house goes away from Bombay for more than seven days, report the fact to your Ward Rationing Office. And don't draw rations for that period.

It is an offence not to report such departures. It is an offence to draw rations for an absent person. It is also anti-social to do either of these things, which must tend ultimately to reduce the ration for everybody.

If you know anybody guilty of such offences, send a confidential report to the Controller of Rationing.

THE MAIN OBJECTION

It is significant, indeed, that Government opposed and helped to throw out Pandit Kunzru's resolution in the Council of State urging that Indian Commissioned Officers, serving abroad be paid at the same rate as British officers in the Indian Army and that the Viceroy's Commissioned Officers and Indian soldiers serving abroad should be paid at the same rates as persons occupying corresponding positions in the British Army serving alongside the Indian Army. It means not only that discrimination against Indians still persists but also that Government refuse to stop it. Pandit Kunzru pointed out that his recent visit to the Middle East had made him realise the urgency of the question as the Indian officers there had strong feelings on this matter and had complained to him that they got less than even the Sudanese and the Singalese. It is impossible to believe that he exaggerated the complaints he had heard. If anything, he understated the feeling in the minds of the aggrieved persons. The Indian Officers have as arduous and responsible duties as the British officers and are by general consent giving an excellent accunt of themselves. Yet there is an invidious distinction in respect of salary. Nor is this merely a matter of sentiment. As Pandit Kunzru pointed out, though the Indian officer's salaries were much lower, their expenses in messes and otherwise were just the same as those of the British officers; and even the special allowances given to them were not sufficient to make up the difference. Such a position could not but be most galling to the officers concerned.

Says an Algiers report: "On the recommendation of General Georges Catroux, Co-ordinator for Muslim Affairs, the French Committee of National Liberation has approved regulations whereby the pay of native Algerian soldiers is raised to equality with European troops." This report comes as a timely contrast to General Auchinleck's statement. Despite the sympathetic and conciliatory tone of his reply, General Auchinleck failed to satisfy Pandit Kunzru and his non-official supporters for the very natural reason that flagrant discrimination cannot be convincingly explained away. Now the main objection to the present practice does not arise from any demand for the general raising of the pay of two million Indian troops including several thousand Indian officers—by the way the proportion of Indian to British officers in the 'Indian' Army is still 1:3.7. This is not the demand. It cannot be because India simply cannot afford it. Already the people are groaning under the long and crushing burden of the most costly—yes, the most costly—administrative machinery in the world from the Viceroy, his Executive Councillors and so-called specialists and experts and Governors down to all the upper services of civil and military administration. What India already pays for the privilege of being ruled by the British is impoverishing enough. But the objection is to discrimination against those officers and men of the Indian Army who have been taken by the British War Cabinet to fight overseas and who are paid by the British Treasury. When the Indian fights, say, in the Middle East and North Africa, he is, at best, fighting indirectly in the defence of his own country and he very definitely fights more for Britain than for India. In the circumstances, on what grounds of morality and gratitude can any honest man justify the difference in his pay and in that of the Britisher when he is fighting literally shoulder to shoulder, accepting the same sacrifices rendering the same heroic services and proving himself, according to Britishers themselves, as gallant and invaluable a soldier as any other?

To take just one instance, what is called the Fourth Indian Division, it has covered itself with remarkable glory and, we understand, that a number of Indian soldiers from it are to be paraded through Britain and America. But does the scandalous incongruity of the fact occur to any one in New Delhi or London that its British elements, officers and men—the Fourth Indian Division does contain a number of British regiments even apart from British officers of the Indian Army—receive higher salaries and allowances than the Indians? Does it ever occur to any one that this invidious treatment is a humiliation and an insult which cannot be justified on any ground?

FRANKLY SPEAKING

Jap Anxiety

Tokio Radio reports that General Oshima, the Japanese Ambassador, has conferred with Hitler and Ribbentrop at the Fuehrer's Headquarters on the future European military situation and German counter-plans. The report is doubly significant. It clealy proves that, owing to successful operations against Germany and Italy and to the ignominious fall of Mussolini, the Axis camp has been seized with concern and anxiety about the future. And it shows, secondly, that Japan, whose Ambassador rushed to Hitler, feels as profoundly worried as Germany. Events, no less in the Pacific than in Europe, justify this anxiety on the part of both. And it will increase presently and go on increasing.

Interesting Developments

For, events seem to be developing rapidly as regards Italy. The Germans put out, and Rome Radio further publicised, a list of terms purporting to have been offered to Italy by President Roosevelt. It was all an invention. But, whatever the purpose of the Germans was, the Italians evidently wanted thereby to find if the Allies would offer any terms other than unconditional surrender. The next development is the report that the British War Cabinet has taken special steps to tell king Victor Emmanuel and Marshal Badoglio that there would be no modification in the demand and that they could not hope for anything by any further delay. Following on this report there now comes the news that the Italian Crown Council met on Tuesday. Let us hope it has taken the only sensible decision possible in the circumstances.

Serious Charge

Shrimati Shanno Devi, member of the Punjab Assembly, who was convicted and sentenced to six months' imprisonment for alleged defiance of a restraint order during the traders' agitation against the Punjab General Sales Tax Act, has been acquitted on appeal by Mr. G. D. Khosla, Sessions Judge, Lahore. The Court, according to a press report, disbelieved the prosecution story and held that the prosecution might have been launched against her because she was herself actually injured in the Police lathi charge and "it was feared she would make a fuss by giving publicity to the assault, deliberate or inadvertent, made upon her." This is a serious charge for a Sessions Judge to make against the officials concerned and it needs to be fully investigated by the higher authorities.

BOMBAY, August 4.

Mr. V. D. Sarvarkar has issued the following statement:

"I wish to draw the attention of the public in general and the Leaguers in particular to the fact that Mr. Amery, Secretary of State for India, has held the same view of the constitutional position of the Provincial Governments now functioning in different provinces in India as I in my statement of June 10, that the present ministries in Sind and other Provinces are coalition ministries and there is not a single ministry which may be constitutionally called a League Ministry." A question was asked on July 29 in Parliament as to whether there was any League Ministry functioning in any Province to which Mr. Amery replied: "All Ministries in the six Provinces wherein normal constitution is functioning are based on coalition of parties and interests."—United Press.

MAZAGAON COURT FIRE CASE

How Accused Contacted Congress Worker

BOMBAY, Wednesday.

Evidence was adduced in what is known as the Mazagaon Court Fire Case which came up for further hearing before Mr. G. A. Sabnis, Presidency Magistrate, Girgaum Court today.

Gianba Baburao Ghodekar a mali, deposed that he knew accused Pawar who lived in the same building at DeLisle Road in which he himself lived. He also knew Sable who used to come to his flower-shop to purchase flowers. No. 6 one day came to his shop and asked him as to who did the Congress work at DeLisle Road. The witness referred him to one Salvi in this connection. Two days later Salvi met him, and the witness told him to see accused No. 6.

Witness further stated that one night when he was sitting in his shop he was called by Salvi. He therefore went to accused Jijiba's room where he found accused 2 and 6 sitting with some other persons. There was also a lady in the room. After some talk he went away.

Two months after this he was called to the C.I.D. office, where his statement was recorded. At the same place an identification parade was held in which he identified accused No. 5 as one who was present in the Jijiba's room.

Cross-examined by Mr. H. R. Pardiwala the witness admitted that, without the assistance of the C.I.D. officers he could not have identified accused No. 5.

Banubai Bapu, a young widow who came from Satara about two years' back, and who lived with accused No. 2 described in course of her evidence how the accused persons used to meet in her room, and how No. 2 once brought a bag from Satara, which when opened was found to contain a cocoanut-like object.

The case was adjourned till Thursday.

CONTROL OF CAPITAL ISSUES

Further Amendments To Defence Of India Rules

NEW DELHI, Aug. 4

Further amendments to the Defence of India Rule relating to the control of capital issues have been gazetted.

The first of these empowers the Government to remove the taint of illegality from issues or other transactions which have amounted to technical breaches of the rule but which the Government may agree to have been done through genuine misunderstanding.

Such instances were fairly common in the early days of the Rule's operation, for example, the rule took effect on the day it was made, viz May 17, 1943, but in several cases, allotments were completed on that date by persons who could not have become aware of the making of the rule until the next or a later day. Applications in this connection will be dealt with by the examiner of capital issues, to whom they may be addressed.

The second amendment provides for the removal of the ban on purchase or sale of shares to which consent has not been given when these shares, though issued outside British India on or after May 17, 1943, without such consent, had actually and lawfully passed into British Indian hands before the sub-rule imposing the said ban was made on June 23, 1943.—A.P.

Cotton Cloth Dealers' Licence

The fee for a dealer's licence is Rs. 5, and for a hawker's licence, Re. 1. The licensing authority for Bombay City and Bombay Suburban District is the Director of Industries, and elsewhere the District Magistrate. The Order extends to the whole of Bombay Province and came into force on August 3. Dealers have to apply for licences within one month of that date. The Order does not apply to owners of textile mills or to any person selling or storing for sale cloth manufactured by himself or the members of his family.

WRIT OF CERTIORARI AGAINST INDUSTRIAL COURT

High Court's Power Of Issue Defined

(Before the Hon. Mr. Justice Wadia and Mr. Justice Weston)

Kalyan Mills Ltd. of Ahmedabad ..... Applicants

In a dispute between the Ahmedabad Millowners' Association and the Labour Association of Ahmedabad which arose in 1939, the Industrial Court of Bombay, (constituted under the Bombay Industrial Disputes Act of 1938), awarded a cash dearness allowance of Rs. 3-8-0 per month per head. The applicants started night shifts but did not pay the dearness allowance to those on night shift on the ground that the award of the Industrial Court did not apply to them. The matter came up before the Industrial Court which held that the non-payment of dearness allowance by the applicants to night-shift workers was an "illegal change" within Section 73 of the Industrial Disputes Act. Aggrieved by this decision, the Kalyan Mills presented this application for a 'writ of certiorari' calling upon the Industrial Court to submit the records of this case to the High Court.

The important question which arose was whether the High Court had the power to do so.

Their Lordships held that the High Court had the power to issue a 'writ of certiorari' not only in respect of orders of subordinate courts but also in regard to orders of Tribunals or Officers, who though not Courts, were acting judicially, if they had acted without jurisdiction or in excess of authority. Their Lordships were of opinion that Section 60 of the Industrial Disputes Act, which provided that no order of the Industrial Court could be called in question in any Court, did not take away the right to issue this writ.

However, in the present case, their Lordships declined to interfere as they were not satisfied that the Industrial Court had exercised jurisdiction not vested in it. Their Lordships therefore discharged the Rule with costs.

Haile Selassie Wants Badoglio To Follow Musso

LONDON, August 4.

The "News Chronicle" is publishing to-day a message its Editor received from Emperor Haile Selassie.

The message reads, "We in Ethiopia having particularly suffered among nations from the consequences of Mussolini's contempt for the claims of justice and humanity have greater cause than most to rejoice that he has made his exit in disgrace and with him should disappear every form of Fascist policy.

"Mussolini is now replaced by Badoglio. Badoglio is the man who carried out Mussolini's orders to use poison gas against my people. In declaring that the war continues Badoglio pursues his former master's policy. To have got rid of Mussolini without getting rid of Fascist tendencies would be little gain to lovers of freedom".—Reuter.

Central Assembly: DELHI UNIVERSITY AMENDMENT BILL DISCUSSED

House Rejects Motion For Circulation

NEW DELHI, August 4.

The Assembly continued debate on M. A. Gani's motion for circulation of the Delhi University (Amendment) Bill. The motion for circulation was rejected by 45 votes to 28.

Mr. John Sargent, Educational Adviser to the Government of India, believed whatever Government were doing in regard to Delhi University it was with the sole object of developing education throughout the country. The principles underlying the bill were very sound and affected hundreds of youngmen and women in Delhi. The reason why the three years' course was not introduced in other Universities was that it was not possible unless the standard of high school education was raised. All the University bodies were in full agreement with the proposal of having a three-year course and had fully endorsed the provision of a whole-time Vice-Chancellor and the suggestion regarding withdrawal of recognition of Colleges.

The proposed Delhi University aimed at being something between the unitary and affiliatory type. The scheme would encourage the development of technical education, which would be of great importance during the post-war period.

HASTY MEASURE

Nawabzada Liaqat Ali Khan referred to Mr. Sargent's speech on the same bill, last session, in which he had said they were "building from the roof! From this, the Nawabzada concluded that the Government had admitted the haste with which they had brought forward this measure.

Professor P. N. Bannerji asked why such a comparatively small University as that of Delhi should have a paid Vice-Chancellor, while a large institution like the Calcutta University was content with an honorary Vice-Chancellor.

His impression of the Bill as a whole was it seemed to be intended not to improve the University but extend the Government of India's power over it. He wanted the autonomy of educational institutions to be preserved from the interference even of a National Government.

Mr. J. D. Tyson, Education Secretary opposing circulation pointed out that the Select Committee on the Bill proposed a few changes but held these changes were neither so many nor so drastic as to justify republication of the Bill. The Delhi University welcomed the Bill. The onus of justifying any further delay in proceeding with the consideration of the Bill lay therefore on those who urged that course. And, he considered that speeches in the House had failed to justify that course.

The motion for circulation was rejected by 45 votes to 28 and the motion for consideration passed by 46 votes to 26.

The House took up discussion of the clauses, and had not concluded when it adjorned till to-morrow.—A. P.

QUESTIONS:

Over Crowding In Trains

A reference was made at questions time in the Central Assembly to-day to the death of two persons, hanging on the footboard of a tram by dashing again a signal post near Wadi station recently, when Mr. M. A. Kazmi asked what steps Government contemplated taking to stop recurrence of such tragedies.

The War Transport Member, Sir Edward Benthall said he was satified that railway staff did everything in their power to stop this unauthorised form of travel, and he hoped that the publicity given in this case would discourage the public from risking their lives in future.

Sir Edward explained practical difficulties in putting a complete stop to this practice, especially if passengers chose to travel on footboards, but he said if they travelled like that they must take the consequences.

Is not such travelling due to congestion? asked a member.

Sir Edward was heard to reply: yes, but the railways discouraged overcrowding.

The nomination of the record number of 350 candidates, representing fourteen political parties, for the Australian general election on August 21 should not be taken as a sign that the country is hopelessly divided at a critical moment in its history.

Replying to a question in the Council of State, General Auchinleck revealed that as many as 97 "units" in the Indian Army were now commanded by Indian officers.

After which profoundly gratifying revelation it would be ungracious to want to know what exactly "unit" signified and how many hundreds of it comprise the Indian Army.

And even if it were not ungracious it would certainly be unsafe.

On the recommendation of General Catroux, the French Committee of National Liberation has decided to raise the pay of native Algerian soldiers to equality with European troops.

The impetuosity of Frenchmen is proverbial. But we deeply deplore the Committee's folly in thoughtlessly adopting a system which ignoring the economic and social conditions of the country will inevitably lead to grave difficulties now and hereafter.

We wish Frenchmen followed the sound principles enunciated the other day by General Auchinleck in the Council of State. Perhaps it would be friendly act to send a copy of General Auchinleck's statement to General de Gaulle and Giraud.

WHEN INDIA'S Destiny IS AT STAKE . . .

From the age of mythology Sita has been handed down as the glory and ideal of Indian womanhood. Sita—the embodiment of supreme self-sacrifice and self-effacement. With all the influx of modern ideas the Indian woman of today still continues to give these qualities the pride of place among the virtues demanded of a woman. No sacrifice, no self-effacement is too great to her for the sake of the ones she loves. No one will deny that much of the charm and sweetness of Indian womanhood lies in these qualities

When, however, these qualities induce her to neglect her health—it is time to cry halt. For, with the health of India's womanhood is linked up the destiny of India's future citizens. Self-effacement ceases to be a virtue when India's destiny is at stake.

As a woman there are certain ailments to which you are peculiarly liable—because of the internal organism with which Nature has specially equipped you. It is your duty to see that it functions faultlessly. In this you will find C. K. Sen's ASOKA an invaluable aid. By toning up your entire internal organism it promotes complete and regular functioning of the system on which your health and beauty entirely depends.

CITY MARKETS

BOMBAY, Wednesday.

SHARES: The local Share Bazar was quietly steady to-day with a restricted turnover and prices fluctuated within a narrow range. The local cloth market is steady with a moderately active demand for fancy and fine goods but general feeling remains hesitant despite some improvement in cloth prices. Raw cotton prices have stumped considerably and it must have effect on cloth prices. Mills are the only buyers of raw cotton and holders of actual stocks are inclined to hedge their cotton by entering into Delivery Contract's for the next year crop. In the Share Bazar outside participation is restricted and operators are not inclined to increase their risks. Thus we have narrow trading markets giving opportunities

Tansa Overflows

The Half-Column
By "Dim"

Sir Kikabhai Premchand has donated Rs. 10,000 to a fund for a European Hospital in Bombay.

* * *

The Viceroy has paid a glowing tribute to the Indian Press. The press is a little bewildered by this compliment, not knowing what it is for.

* * *

The USOWI are likely to issue a contradiction regarding a para which appeared in the Half Column in which a Gentleman from Dash Dash Road is alleged to have thought that a Jeep was a female Jap.

* * *

The USOWI feel this is necessary as well-known Generals are reported by them to have driven their own Jeeps.

* * *

An appeal for funds has been made over a number of signatures to provide facilities for the legal defence of those who are faced with grave charges in cases arising in the city and province of Bombay out of the disturbances consequent on the arrest of the Congress leaders on August 9 of last year. A Committee has been formed with Mr. Haridas Madhavdas, Chairman of the Indian Merchants' Chamber, as its President. There is no need to say anything more on this subject except that the response to this appeal will be an indication to all the world of public feeling in India on this matter. Donations should be sent to Raja Bahadur Govindlal Shivlal Motilal, the Treasurer of the Committee, at 15, Lands' End Road, Malabar Hill, Bombay. I feel sure that donations from Englishmen from Britain will be forthcoming and welcome.

OUR NEW COOK BROUGHT THIS SECRET

She insisted on changing to "Lion" Vanaspati. We noticed the difference in the cooking immediately—the more delicious chapaties, purees, rice and other dishes so nourishing, so digestible and healthy. That's the beauty of cooking and frying with "Lion" Vanaspati which comes in sealed tins. We suffered so much in health in the past by using bazaar ghee or oil sold in open cans.
"Lion" Vanaspati is a 100% pure vegetable product, guaranteed free from animal fat. It contains vitamins too.
